More Proscription of Union Democrats.

Lately it was rumored that if Col. JEFF. Davis, the Secretary of War, should be elected to the United States Senate, Hon. JEREMIAH CLEMENS would be called into the Cabinet. Thereupon the Richmond (Va.) Enquirer, which is understood to be quite in the confidence of the administration, repels the suggestion as follows:

THE CHARGES AGAINST GOVERNOR RAMSEY EXPLDED.—Nearly a year ago, when charges were made against Ex-Gov. RAMSEY, of Minnesota, we said we did not believe them, for we had known him from his youth, and knew him to be honest and true. See now what has come of the charges:

Charges were some time ago preferred against Gov. Ramsey, of Minnesota, and Mr. Sibley, delegates from that Territory, of official misconduct in the disbursement of money to the Indians and the traders, &c., who had claimed against them. The charges were submitted for investigation to a commission, consisting of Judge R. M. Young and Col. Gorman. After an elaborate examination of evidence, they have made a report exonerating these officers of all blame. One of the charges was violation of the Sub treasury act. The facts on which this charge was founded were as follows: Governor Ramsey was to pay six hundred thousand dollars as the first instalment of Indian treaty purchase. He had a draft on the New York Sub-treasury for this purpose. He could not carry it all in specie. He took a hundred thousand dollars in specie, and this sum filled two boxes, each requiring the strength of four men to lift it. The Paris papers report that the Czar had given orders for immediate preparations for crossing the Danube.

This forbids a hope of his acceptance of the last note of the Western powers.

The latest advices from Constantinople express little hope that the negotiations will lead to a satisfactory result.

Trieste is mentioned as a neutral place for a meeting of a congress of the four powers.

Intelligence confirms the report that the Porte had accepted the note from the four powers, saying it does not object, under certain conditions, to an armistice, but insists upon the evacuation of the principalities and the maintenance of Turkish sovereignty, and consents to a congress in a neutral city to a revision of the existing treaties and to consider the propriety of further ameliorations of the condition of christian subjects.

The Divan continued three days, and when the result transpired a tumult arose in Constantinople, and a mob of 3,000, led by Ulmofis, assembled, and presented a remonstrance, declaring the Shevite constitution violated by the council. For a time a mob was apprehended, and a force of marines from the English and French steamers was called to Constantinople, and a proclamation was issued by the Sultan on the 22d, which restored quiet. Several of the mob were arrested and banished.

Definite information as to the relative action of the Czar is daily expected.

Intelligence from St. Petersburg of the 20th states that the Emperor had formally rejected the Vienna protocol of the 5th, but consents to examine the Turkish propositions of the 20th, although he refuses to recognize the right of European intervention in Russian and Turkish affairs.

On the 25th the allied fleet had not entered the Black sea, in consequence of the tempestuous weather.

The instructions to the commanders of the fleet are, that in the event of meeting Russian ships of war, they will, in the names of their respective Governments, request the Russian commander to return to Sevastopol, where he will find further instructions from the Russian Government. On his refusal to return, force will be used.

The Russian statements affect not to feel the slightest alarm about the movements of the allied squadrons; on the contrary, they assert to the fleets entering the Black sea.

There is extraordinary military activity all over Russia. The London Observer says that agents are on the way to the United States to purchase ships and ammunition for Russia.

There is much indignation against Prince Albert, and particularly the independent papers, and the public voice protest he is a tool of Russia, and that Lord Aberdeen is under his influence. The Prince, it is stated, betrays all cabinet secrets to Russia, Austria, and Germany. The matter is expected to come before Parliament.

KENTUCKY FORM BOOK.

Messrs. William N. Patterson, and E. H. Smith, are engaged, we learn, in the preparation of, and will very soon ready for delivery, "The Kentucky Form Book," comprising all the duties of Clerks, Sheriffs and other officers, under the Statutes and Code of Kentucky.

The young gentlemen who are engaged in the preparation of this work, have great experience as Clerks of the Circuit and County Courts, and we are advised by a professional friend who has examined a portion of the work completed, that it will be a useful and valuable work.

KENTUCKY FORM BOOK.

The Russellville Herald speaks as follows of Mr. Crittenden's election to the U. S. Senate:

Although there are many meritorious and able men in our ranks, whose friends felt desirous to see them in the Senate, yet without disengagement to any of them, we must say that no man in the State could at once so readily take the commanding position in the Senate, that J. J. Crittenden can. His re-appearance in that body will give new life and energy to his party there, and his eloquence and logic will wield a mighty influence in staying the baneful work of locofocoism.

A Washington dispatch says: "There is a rumor here of a duel between Jefferson Davis and Gen. Foote."

DEATH OF THE RUSSIAN MINISTER.—A telegraphic dispatch from New York, dated Jan. 21st, says, Mr. Bodisco, the Russian Minister, died at Washington the day before. He was a man advanced in years, and had been long accredited to our government. As a man and a minister he was much esteemed. His lady, who is much younger, is an American.

The murderers of Dr. Fox, of Todd county, have been discovered. A negro man and a negro boy, belonging to the deceased, confessed that they committed the deed. They were tried before an examining Court, and committed for further trial.

HIGH SHANKS AND SO ON.

ABOUT "SHANGHAI"—The Express having "told its tale" in relation to this rare bird, we feel it our privilege to be also heard on the occasion. A farmer residing in that indefinite locality "out West," says "that the 'tehne' tever" rages some up that way; and inquires, "Now, what do you think of the variety called 'shank highs,' whose name don't belie them? I tell my wife they have no body at all, and when the head is cut off their legs come right apart! Am I right?"

Neighbor Buckingham's wife says they're the beauteous things to lay on a'irth, they sit and lay both at once. I don't believe it—it's contrary to natur. I think they recline a little, as it were—Jerusalem! how can they sit? My jack-knife can sit as well as they can. I tell you, Mr. Editor, they put things out of joint, too, dreadfully. When Buckingham's wife got her shank highs home the other day, old Kink happened to hear the old rooster crow the first time, and not knowing anything about the matter, summoned half the hands on the place to come and help get the old blind mule out of the crib. Old Kink says—"Dey don't sit on de roost same as odder chickens do, nowh, but dey sits straddle of de stink, cause why, when dey 'tempt to sit as common chickens, de head ain't heavy 'nuff for de legs, and dey falls off backwards." Correct philosophy that. They sit when they eat, I know, for I've seen 'em try to eat standing, but it was no go, for when they peck at a grain of corn on the ground, they don't morn their heads, reach it, the head bobs right between their legs, making 'em turn a somerset. May be they're like singed cats, better, they look, and that's bout enough, anyhow. I'd as soon see pair of wings or compasses walking about the yard as these shank highs. And I had like to have forgot to tell you that Peter says—"Dey's big hairs, cause dey crows long fore day." But Kink says—"Pete don't 'lect dat deir legs is so long, dey see daylight long time 'fore common chickens."—Albany (N. Y.) Register.

Latest Foreign News—Prospect General European War more imminent.

—Advance in Breadstuffs.

The steamship America arrived at Halifax this morning of the 23d inst., bringing Liverpool dates to the 7th inst. Her news has been telegraphed. The impression seems to prevail that a general European war is inevitable, and breadstuffs had advanced in consequence. Flour had advanced 30 63, and wheat and corn in proportion.

The chief items of the telegraphic news are as follows:

The Paris Moniteur contains a circular from the minister of foreign affairs, dated the 30th of December, and addressed to all French legations, on the Eastern question. The document is moderate, but very firm. It narrates the phases of the question, and declares that France, England, Austria, and Prussia solemnly recognized the territorial integrity of the Ottoman Empire, and further states that the affair at Sinope took place against all provisions—Russia having declared she only desired material guarantees, therefore, to prevent the Ottoman territory and flags from further attacks by the navy of Russia. The French and English fleets had been ordered to enter the Black Sea.

The circular terminates by expressing a hope that Russia would not expose Europe to new convulsions.

The papers authentically state that the French government was dissatisfied with the evasive conduct of Austria, and had addressed a strong letter of remonstrance, intimating that France will extend aid to Hungary, Italy, &c.

The Paris papers report that the Czar had given orders for immediate preparations for crossing the Danube.

This forbids a hope of his acceptance of the last note of the Western powers.

Correct philosophy that. They sit when they eat, I know, for I've seen 'em try to eat standing, but it was no go, for when they peck at a grain of corn on the ground, they don't morn their heads, reach it, the head bobs right between their legs, making 'em turn a somerset. May be they're like singed cats, better, they look, and that's bout enough, anyhow. I'd as soon see pair of wings or compasses walking about the yard as these shank highs. And I had like to have forgot to tell you that Peter says—"Dey's big hairs, cause dey crows long fore day." But Kink says—"Pete don't 'lect dat deir legs is so long, dey see daylight long time 'fore common chickens."—Albany (N. Y.) Register.

If you want a puff—that is to say, a genuine fragrant puff—call at the bar of the Capital Hotel and try some of the fine Cigars always on hand there. They will afford a puff that is worth puffing.

ROBBERY IN LEXINGTON.—A robbery was committed in Lexington the 19th inst., an account of which has by accident been omitted from our paper.

The Statesman says that on last Tuesday night, about one o'clock, some one awoke Col. C. J. Sanders, [U. S. Hemp Agent,] at his residence, in the suburbs of the city, by calling out to him that his office, situated on Main street, was on fire. The Col. sprang from his bed, and quickly throwing on his clothes, started for his office with all speed. When just outside of his gate, about a hundred yards from his house, he tripped against a rope which had been purposely stretched across the way by the daring villains, and fell upon his face with such force as to injure him considerably. At this moment of the robbery sprung from his back, calling upon others—"Now rip him, damn him." They took his handkerchief from his hat, bound round his eyes, and then cut open the side pocket of his coat, from which they took his pocket-book, containing $1,725 dollars in money and some valuable papers, and made off. The story of the office being on fire was a ruse, to entice Col. S. from his house.

THE CHARGES AGAINST GOVERNOR RAMSEY EXPLDED.—Nearly a year ago, when charges were made against Ex-Gov. RAMSEY, of Minnesota, we said we did not believe them, for we had known him from his youth, and knew him to be honest and true. See now what has come of the charges:

Charges were some time ago preferred against Gov. Ramsey, of Minnesota, and Mr. Sibley, delegates from that Territory, of official misconduct.

The Paris papers report that the Czar had given orders for immediate preparations for crossing the Danube.

This forbids a hope of his acceptance of the last note of the Western powers.

The latest advices from Constantinople express little hope that the negotiations will lead to a satisfactory result.

Trieste is mentioned as a neutral place for a meeting of a congress of the four powers.
